Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Bivouac or Martial Lyrist: Containing Songs, Epigrams, and Poems IN the Songs of Me. Camp and barrack-room now incorporated in this volume, the author purposely abstained from introducing anything of a party or political nature, deeming it to be the soldier's duty to eschew politics altogether. Nor did he touch on the wrongs, real or supposed, of the soldier, or on the revilings of many of our orators, pamphleteers, and military and other writers in magazines, in their persistent cry for a better class of men. His humble endeavour and cherished ambition being to confirm the soldier in his loyalty to his Queen, his Country, and his Corps; to enhance his courage and historic pride; to elevate him in his own estimation and in that of his country 3 to teach him to value his medal as a prize priceless beyond all other, and, by contrast, to lightly esteem the good-con duct badge, which the vilest man does, and the cowardly soldier might, wear 5 also to awaken in our youth a love for those perils and adventures which pertain to a soldier's life.
