Excerpt from Geology and Its Connection With Sanitary Science: A Paper Read at the Leeds Geological Association, on December 9th, 1878 Let us, however, leave hypothesis, and study actual facts. Where a knowledge of geology is of such great value to the hygienist is in the matters of drainage, water supply, and the disposal of the dead. It has also other applications, but the three above named are the most im portant. First, then, with regard to drainage. How important to health is it that towns and villages should be well drained we may easily estimate from the fact that, ac cording to certain calculations made by the Registrar General for 25 years (1850 - 74) there died annually 866 2 persons per million from continued fevers, typhus, typhoid, c., and especially from the latter. Now, typhoid IS especially a drain fever. It is, I may add, a positive disgrace to any locality, as it demonstrates sad neglect on the part of sanitary officials. Diphtheria, too, seems to depend for its existence upon drain poisons. It has hurried off 39, 454 persons between...
