A word or two regarding these two cases is only fair to our staff. One of the cases was tubercular in character and was despaired of from the first; the second one stayed under our care for only three days, then went to an outside physician who took care of it for a month and then it passed on to still another doctor who finally decided the finger should be amputated, which was done. Aside from these two cases we have not lost a single portion of any-employe by reason of infection. Part of the propaganda referred to consists of a card printed in English, Italian and Polish, and which was given to every employe in the plant and also is given to every new employe when he is hired. The cards are entitled, What to Do Should You be Injured, and they state very definitely that the employe upon receiving an injury, even as small as a slight scratch, shall immediately report to the foreman, overseer or adjuster of his shop, who will have the employe change his time ticket for a Hospital Time Ticket, and at the same time an Accident Report, properly made out, is furnished him. With these v starts at once for the hospital where his injuries are cared for and he returns to his job, bringing back with him his Time Ticket and a Re-dressing Card if re-dressings have been found necessary. As to these...
